Join us to hear Dr. Michio Kaku, voted one of the 100 smartest people in New York by New York Magazine, talk about his theories about the universe.

About Dr. Michio Kaku:

Dr. Michio Kaku is professor of theoretical physics at CUNY City College. He is the co-founder of string field theory, one of the main branches of string theory, the leading candidate for a "theory of everything." He has published 2 New York Times Best Sellers, Physics of the Impossible, and Physics of the Future. His Ph.D. level textbooks are required reading at many of the leading physics labs around the world. He hosts many science specials on the Science Channel and Discovery Channel. He has appeared on the David Letterman Show, the Larry King Show, the Conan O'Brian Show, the Bill Maher Show on HBO, the Steve Colbert Show, Good Morning America, the Today Show, Nightline, ABC news with Diane Sawyer, CNN, BBC. His nationally syndicated science radio show broadcasts weekly to 140 radio stations across the US and Sirius XM satellite. He writes Op-Ed articles for the Wall Street Journal.

Dr. Kaku graduated first in his physics class from Harvard, received his Ph.D. from the Univ. of Calif. at Berkeley, was a research associate at Princeton, and is now at CUNY. When in high school he built a 2.3 million electron volt atom smasher (betatron) in his mom's garage and photographed tracks of anti-matter (positrons). He won numerous science awards at the National Science Fair in Washington, DC.

Co-Sponsored by the SHS Parents' Association, the Stuy Chemistry & Physics Department, and StuyResearch.
